

Anthony Digoy joins Primexis’ Accounting and Financial Assistance department as Director

Primexis announces the appointment of Anthony Digoy as Director of its Accounting and Financial Assistance (ACF) department.

Anthony Digoy is a chartered accountant with 15 years of experience working with finance departments of French and international groups.

His arrival strengthens the expertise of the Accounting and Financial Assistance department, which works with large companies and mid-cap corporations in demanding environments that require responsiveness, technical precision, and the ability to structure.

Experience anchored in operational and finance transformation

Anthony Digoy started his career in accounting firms where he carried out accounting outsourcing and operational support engagements. He then joined EY in 2016 where he assisted clients with engagements in accounting outsourcing, operational support, and structuring finance departments.

Most recently, he led two high-stakes engagements for a mid-cap corporation in the telecommunications and energy infrastructure sector: first as interim accounting director and then as project manager to roll out the group’s information system. These experiences demonstrate his ability to tackle complex operational challenges and transformation projects that reshape an organization.

A structuring role for the ACF department

At Primexis, Anthony Digoy will contribute to developing the Accounting and Financial Assistance service offerings. In particular, he will work on engagements involving operational consulting, structuring accounting functions, optimizing processes, securing financial information, and supporting finance information system transformation projects.

"Anthony's arrival is a valuable addition to our Accounting and Financial Assistance department. His experience working with finance departments, expertise in demanding accounting environments, and his ability to address both operational and structuring issues are a perfect fit for our clients' needs. We are very pleased to welcome him to Primexis."

Chrystelle Héberlé, Partner at Primexis, Head of Accounting and Financial Assistance and Controlling

"I am pleased to join Primexis and its teams, whose high standards, hands-on approach, and commitment to client satisfaction I share. The ACF department works closely with finance departments in environments where responsiveness, adaptability, and the ability to work as part of a team are essential. I would like to be part of this dynamic by contributing my experience and a highly operational approach to engagements."
